What Are The Aims Of The Course?

Our goal is to enable trainees to become outstanding teachers providing them with varied, exciting opportunities to ensure they reach their full potential and continue to influence minds of the future.

Developing excellent teachers is a core aim of Teacher Training UK. We work closely with headteachers and senior leaders to design, develop and regularly evaluate the training programme. Providing trainees with opportunities which will give them the very best chance to become an outstanding teacher, who can help individuals reach their potential and carry a passion for learning with them throughout their lives.

The Teacher Training UK Programme aims to equip trainees to become effective and reflective classroom practitioners, who are confidently and competently able to demonstrate classroom skills in the age and ability range of the phase in which they are training to teach.

The Teacher Training UK programme enables trainees to acquire and develop the values, commitments, personal qualities, knowledge, understanding and skills that all teachers need. It also offers the opportunities to network professionally with colleagues from a variety of contexts and phases, which will be essential to continuing professional development as a teacher.

The Teacher Training UK Programme has been designed to give trainees the opportunity to meet the requirements for achieving Qualified Teaching Learning and Skills (QTLS).

Since 1st April 2012, teachers with QTLS have been recognised as qualified to teach in schools and the status recognised as equivalent to QTS (Qualified Teacher Status).

What Does the Course Consist of?

Teacher Training UK implements a curriculum that produces highly skilled teachers. Working with experienced educators across the industry ensures our training programme is extensive and cutting edge.

The Teacher Training UK programme is unique in that it incorporates a Maths and English qualification, as a result you are not required to have a GCSE grade A to C to enrol onto the programme.

The programme includes the Diploma in Education and Training (an Ofqual recognised accredited teaching qualification).

In addition, on completion of the taught programme you will be eligible to start a period of professional formation leading to Qualified Teacher Learning and Skills (QTLS) status, which we will fully support you through. QTLS is awarded by the Society for Education and Training upon completion of the 6 month professional development period. Holders of QTLS have legal parity with teachers in schools and are therefore not required to serve an induction year prior to receiving a full teacher salary.

The programme is delivered on a weekly basis on Wednesday (Essex), Thursday (London) and Friday (Kent) afternoons 1-4pm (term time).

The total cost of the 2020/21 programme is £4,400.00. The cost of the programme includes the Diploma in Education and Training, the QTLS registration fee along with one-on-one support and taught sessions to help you complete the portfolio, English and Maths qualifications, and professional coaching and mentoring support.

There is the option to pay for the programme over 12-36 months interest free, costing as little as £100 per month. Alternatively, you are able to apply for a loan independently. You will receive a 5% discount if payment is made in full prior to the start of the programme.

What are the Course Requirements?

We believe having access to high quality innovative training, provided by outstanding teachers, enables you to excel in your teaching career.

Diploma in Education and Training

The TQUK Level 5 Diploma in Education and Training (DET) prepares trainee teachers to teach in a wide range of contexts and requires observation and assessment of practice. Teaching practice is a requirement of the qualification.

The Diploma in Education and Training consists of six modules:

1. Introduction to teaching, learning and assessment
2. Identification of learner needs
3. Planning and designing a learning programme
4. Delivering and facilitating learning
5. Assessing learning and mentoring/coaching for excellence
6. Evaluating learning

You are required to teach a minimum of a 100 hours with groups and/or individuals aged 14 or above.

You will be expected to evaluate your practice after each session and keep a record, along with supporting evidence. You will be observed for a minimum of eight hours whilst completing the Diploma in Education and Training.

Qualified Teaching Learning and Skills

Once students have completed the Diploma in Education and Training, they will complete an online workbook which will require them to discuss and provide evidence of how they have continued to develop their practice having completed the Diploma in Education and Training. During this phase of the programme candidates will need to be formally observed twice (3 months apart). Please note that these observations require candidates to teach individuals aged 14 and above (this could be teaching staff/parent or carers), and at least one of these observations will need to be with a group of 4 or more students.

English and Maths

Candidates who do not have GSCE in English and Maths A-C or equivalent will have an opportunity to complete their level 2 in Functional skills English and Maths whilst on the programme. Candidates will take part in an online initial and diagnostic assessment to identify currently level in Maths and English and specific gaps in knowledge in order to develop an individual learning plan in preparation to complete their functional skills exams.

All elements of the training are designed to be complementary to one another. Together they offer trainees a balance of practice and theory so that they can develop classroom skills alongside the knowledge and understanding that underpins these skills and supports their development as an informed and reflective practitioner.

On completion of the programme you can progress to a BA (Hons) Education and Training or an MSc in Professional Practice (Teaching and Learning Pathway).
